TAFT IS MIXED UP IN GOLF WAR

He Sides With Radicals in Meeting Being Held in Washington. Chicago, Ill., Jan. 16.—President Taft's action in taking sides with the radical golf element lends additional interest to the United Golf association meeting today, and gives color to rumored dissatisfaction of the eas golfers which may lead to a golf that will divide the players of country into two rival camps.

The president, in a letter to Walter J. Travis, who is one of the lea bitrary methods of the Royal and Ancient Golf clubs of St. Andrews, Scot-land, expressed the opinion that the stick to which that club took exception was "sportsmanlike and gives no undue advantage." This action on the part of the president has gained for Travis and his friends a host of supporters and it is freely rumored that a determined effort will be made to ornational golf association which will be entirely independent of the St. Andrew's club,

The golf situation as it stands today presents the western golf clubs, which are admittedly radical in spirit, favoring a secession from St. Andrews rules, while most of the golfers of the east are said to be against a break with the British club.

The ruling of St. Andrews organizafrom against the Schenectady putter, a mallet headed club that has found favor among golfers of this country, is credited, however, with stirring up a spirit of antagonism among eastern golfers much in accord with western radicalism. The first eastern organimation to voice a protest against the mallet headed putter ruling was the Plainfield Country club, one of the strongest golf clubs of the east. The western golf organization, as far back as last year, showed a spirit of radicalism that made it evident that they were dissatisfied with the St. Andrews rule. In fact, it is said that it was only the conservative spirit of the eastern representatives at the convention that prevented decided steps being taken toward the establishment of a new pational body at that meeting.

Conley, of Kenosha, claimant of the bantam weight championship, was dis-qualified by referee Frew at the end of the eighth round of a 10 round no-decision bout, with Freddie Andrews, of Milwaukee, last night.

passed up several chances to put his man away and refused to permit the bout to go further. Only in the first and second rounds did Andrews seem to have the advantage, when he got in several stiff rights to Conley's head. After the second period, Conley went after his man and wore him down with severe body punches in every round.

Early in the bout the referee warn-el Conley for his mauling tactics. At the end of the fifth round, Andrews seemed to be all in and was bleeding from the cheek and nose. The seventh and eighth were Conley's in which he landed many hard rights and lefts to the body. At the conclusion of the eighth the referee claimed Conley failed to take advantages of several opportunities and stopped the contest.

Could Not Guess Her Age

Mrs. Jones, at 52, Rides Horseback as Well as She Ever Could.

Kenny, IIII .- Mrs. Anna Jones, of this place says: "I used to be troubled with a weakness peculiar to women. For nearly a year, I could not walk, without holding my sides with my handa. I tried several different doctors, supposed to be the best, and was never even relieved. I got worse, and I told my husband I believed they were experimenting on me.

Finally, our druggist advised Cardul for my complaint. I was so thin, my weight was 115. Now I weigh 163, and I am never sick. I ride horseback as good as I ever could. I am in fine health, at 52 years. Some think I am about 55. It was Cardul built me up. If I ever need medicine for womanly troubles, I shall use Cardul, for it is all you claim." Thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. Jones, in the past fifty years, to tell of the benefit received from Cardul. Such testimony, from earnest, women, surely proves the great value of this tonic medicine, for the diseases peculiar to their sex.
